LONGER VALLEY FAIR

Exhibition Next September Will Institution for the Dr. E. R. Extend Over Three Days

Important Action Taken at the Meeting of the Officials Saturday-Will Revive Vaudeville Performance.

At an important meeting of the executive committee of the Valley Fair association, held in the Brooks House Saturday night, it was voted to hold the next fair three days instead of two, and the dates decided upon are Tuesday. Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 25, 26 and 27. It was pointed out that nearly all the other large fairs in New Engiand are three days or more in length and that an additional day of the Valley Pair would give much more satisfaction to the exhibitors and doubtless would materially increase the attendance without adding much to the total cost. It was thought worth while at least to make the experiment. Heretofore patrons of the fair who have wanted to see the races have had insufficient time to see all the exhibits, and for some time the exhibitors, particularly of stock, have been urging the management to extend the show another day.

The committee authorized the secretary The committee authorized the secretary to communicate with breeders throughout New England with a view to securing some stake races for the first day, each owner to contribute a proportionate amount toward the purse. Whether stake races are put on or not it is expected-that there will be races every afternoon.

Another methan takes were another methan to the purse.

Another matter taken up was the question of having a vaudeville attraction. There was no vaudeville at the last fair, and many people were disappointed. It was plain that something besides an exhibition of stock was needed to interest the patrons between the heats of the races. The committee will provide some kind of entertainment at the next fair, but it is not known now whether it will be vaudeville or a track exhibition.

A revision of the premium list also was

A revision of the premium list also was onsidered, but no definite conclusion was reached except that it was decided to revise the list. The committee also de-cided to open the track and stables during the summer to those who wish to use them for training strings of horses. It is hoped that this will revive local interest in trotting horses which was so marked a few years ago.

Mutual Life Policyholders To Organize April 5.

To the policyholders of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, resident in the Connecticut valley.

Choppers Frightened by a Bob Cat. C. W. Barnes and some of als neighbors in Brookline have heard the bay lynx (commonly called bob cat) scream many times this winter, and have found the animal's tracks near farm buildings. A bob cat which had been hanging around a lumber camp in Athens some time, was frightened out of its hiding place by the approach of a team with loud-sounding bells. The bob cat attempted to disappear as soon as possible, and in so doing jumped a winrow of brush and landed among a party of choppers, many of whom were foreigners. The men threw up their axes with a wild yeil of "cougar!" and broke for camp. Their appearance was amusing as they reached the camp from all quarters of the woods, some hatless, others coatless, and all fearful that the "cougar" was in pursuit. A year ago last fall C. W. Barnes caught a bob cat which stretched 3 feet and 8 inches in length. The trapper receives little reward for capturing these animals. The fur is coarse, so that the pelt seldom brings more than $1, and as there is no bounty on a lynx the animals are said to be increasing rapidly. It has been reported within a few months that wolves have been seen in several parts of Vermont. M. F. Barnes, formerly of Athens, now of Brockline, while riding with his wife two years ago, is positive that he saw a wolf in a pasture close to the road. C. W. Barnes and some of his neigh-

It was the original plan of the promotors to buy the Melrose hotel property in West Brattleboro, but negotiations for its purchase were abandoned through a failure to agree on terms. agree on terms.

The Grove street house was formerly occupied by W. E. Haskell, and previously for a term of years by George W. Norcross. The building will be renovated thoroughly to suit the conveniences of the hospital. It is planned to have 12 rooms where patients may be accommodated, an office and reception room, sterilizing room, operating room and send modated, an office and reception room, sterilizing room, operating room and small dispensary. An agent is now in New York buying suitable hospital equipment. Miss Hibbard of Greenfield, a competent matron, has been engaged, and she will have three nurses under her supervision. A specialty will be made of abdominal cases and only surgical cases will be admitted.

It is hoped to have the institution—which will be known as the Dr. E. R. Lynch hospital—ready for opening April 15. Later a ward will be built on the vacant lot adjoining the main building. Myron P. Davis was the originator of the idea of the Lynch hospital, and has been instrumental in bringing the project into definite form. He says he does not expect to be connected with the institution pect to be connected with the institution in any capacity.

The promotors claim that the success of the institution is assured by the number of patients, over 400, which Dr. Lynch has taken to the Farren hospital in Montague, Mass., for operations in the past two and one-half years. It is claimed that an interesting question will arise as that an interesting question will arise as to whether patients who come under the provisions of the Thompson will can be admitted to the Lynch hospital at the expense of the Thompson fund. Dr. Lynch has not been admitted to practice in the Brattieboro Memorial hospital. His friends who are supporting him in the present venture claim that whether he can be excluded against the wishes of those who are the beneficiaries of the hospital is an open question, and that if the those who are the beneficiaries of the hos-pital is an open question, and that if the Dr. E. R. Lynch hospital cannot accept patients and receive remuneration for treating needle women, seamstresses and shop girls, who are particularly speci-fied in the Thompson will, it is likely that those opposed to Dr. Lynch will be obliged to show cause for discrimination against the new institution.
